```
        // Simulate heavy report generation logic

        \Log::info("Starting report generation for report ID: {$this->reportId}");

        // Simulated delay to represent processing time

        sleep(10);

        // Here you would include the actual report generation code,

        // like querying the database, performing calculations, and saving the report.

        \Log::info("Completed report generation for report ID: {$this->reportId}");

    }

}
```