```
php artisan queue:failed
```

---

This should list the job along with the error message after it has permanently failed. This whole setup ensured that heavy background tasks would not block the application indefinitely and provided your development team with detailed logs for troubleshooting persistent issues.