internal intelligence service because we knew that certain men were weak in this regard.