‘I’ll miss you in Udhampur,’ I replied, and we hugged each other for a long time. I wasn’t aware then that the posting in Udhampur, on active duty on the front line, would test my limits of endurance.